Dangerous situation detection using deep learning models for construction sites

Donggyu Lee 1 Bongyeong Koo 1 Yeachan Park 1 Hyomin Ahn 1 Junho Lee 2 Han-Soo Choi 3 and Myungjoo Kang 4

1) Department of Mathematical Sciences, Seoul National University, Seoul 151-742, KOREA
2) Department of Computational Science and Technology, Seoul National University, Seoul 151-742, KOREA
3) Research institute of Mathematics, Seoul National University, Seoul 151-742, KOREA
4) Department of Mathematical Sciences, Seoul National University, Seoul 151-742, KOREA

Corresponding Author : Myungjoo Kang, mkang@snu.ac.kr

ABSTRACT

Accident prevention is a very important factor in a construction site. Therefore, efforts such as supervision of safety regulations were required. As part of these efforts, this study proposes a deep learning model that can prevent safety accidents in advance. It is expected that more accidents can be prevented by strengthening the supervision of compliance with safety rules through these studies.

REFERENCES